

Are You Supporting The Goals?

If you're doing good, show it. Find out more about the UN Global Goals and how supporting them can benefit your business. Compare your activities with others. And get the recognition you deserve for the good you do.

What are the Global Goals?

In 2015, 193 world leaders agreed 17 goals to tackle poverty, inequality and climate change by 2030. These are the UN Global Goals. You're probably already supporting several of them.

Raising awareness

We're creating the world's largest research database of business support for the goals, and encouraging more than 1,000,000 businesses to get involved.

We hope you'll be one of them.

Why support the goals?

By supporting your local community, changing the way you consume energy or unlocking human potential you are already supporting the goals. But there are many more ways you could get involved. Join us to understand how your actions contribute to the world's greatest action plan - and get the recognition you deserve for the good you do.

Our starter package allows you to:

- Understand your business' Support the Goals rating
- Get advice on how to improve in a one-to-one consultation
- See how your business compares to industry peers
- Access an online community of like-minded businesses
- Find tips and stories of support in our regular newsletter
